Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1913 Excerpt: .books, rulers, folding lunch boxes, drinking-cups, etc. I think it best to buy drawing material, water colors, inks and pens direct and get the rest from the jobber. A dealer could save a little by getting tablets direct, but I prefer to buy of the jobber for the sake of getting the best things which each manufacturer has to offer. A wide variety of tablets is essential, and no one manufacturer has them all. SELLING HELPS. Text-books are usually adopted by the local Board of Education, but the choice of supplies is left largely to the individual teacher. Therefore it pays if one is in the school-supply business to cultivate the teacher. By this I do not mean granting them any percentages or discounts--I do not believe in that at all. But be pleasant, give them prompt service. If a certain book or utensil is wanted, see that they have it in a hurry even if it makes you a little extra expense. Then show them the supplies which will pertain particularly to their work and you will find that they will frequently select a note-book or other item and instruct their pupils to come to you for it. Or a drawing teacher will say to her class that she wishes them to use the Paragon Crayon No. 74 and that they can get it at Blank s Drug Store. Right here let me say that a teacher will almost always overestimate the number of textbooks...
